Kostanna Trials Today

The Kostanna Arena in Kylglenn will today hold the National Trials for the Under 17s, Under 19s, Under 21s and Senior Team. The successful candidates will go on to represent the Northern Territories for this coming season, leading into next year's world cup. Hopefuls have travelled from across the North to Kylglenn to chance their arms to gain international recognition to be amongst the best Kostanna players in the world. The most notable Kylglennian to ever ride for the Northern Territories was Viscount Kapra, who led the national team to three world cup victories. His granddaughter, Freya Oaknorth, will attempt to follow in his footsteps as she tries out for the U17s team as Sether.

Kylglenn Church Nominated

Kylglenn Church has been nominated to host the King's annual Summer Solstice Celebrations. Each year the King of the Northern Territories selects a different church to hold to Summer Solstice service. Our very own Kylglenn Church has been shortlisted to host this most prestigious annual event. This would bring a welcome boost to local trades and inns.

Avalennek Cyder Best in the World

Here in the Septino Isles, we have all know for generations that Avalennek Cyder is the best in the world, but it is now official. The Avalennek Cyder Company has been recognised as producing the best Cyder in this year's Kerensia Food & Drink Festival by scooping the highly competitive international gold award for Best Cyder.

Smuggler Activity on the Rise

After years of very little smuggler activity in the Septino Isles, there has been a sharp increase in activity in the past five years. According to the Septino Isles law enforcement Guild there has been a 350% increase in contraband being seized between Kernow and Penncita. Officials believe these illegal goods are originating in the Southern Territories putting additional strain on relations.

Kylglenn College School Tops League Tables

For the tenth year in a row Kylglenn College School has top the Northern Territories League Tables. Although there has been some fierce competition from Norgagh National Academy, our very own school has managed to keep the top spot for a recording breaking tenth year. For a full interview with the School's Dean turn to page 3.

Septino Isles Weather

The Trialists will not have the weather as an excuse today. The outlook is mild with intermittent cloud, perfect Kostanna riding conditions with the sun setting at 7:35pm. For a full 5 day forecast please turn to page 11.
